Maryann Yelnosky is a graduate of the University of Oregon, where she earned her Juris Doctor in 1986. She has spent the last 20 years representing Northwest employers and health care providers specializing in litigation defense, including discrimination, employee management, employee training and medical malpractice. She is a member of the American Bar Association, the Multnomah Bar Association, and the Oregon Women Lawyers Society. Her volunteer activities include serving as a Mock Trial Coach with the Classroom Law Project from 1999-2003. She served as a public member of the Board of Psychologist Examiners from 2003-2007. In 2005 she earned a Certificate from the Executive Management Program at the University of Washington Business School. She is an adjunct professor at the University of Oregon School of Law and she also serves on the Dean's Advisory Committee for the University of Oregon School of Law. She is a frequent speaker on employment law topics.
