

Emily Shults joins Bullard Smith Jernstedt Wilson

September 2007

Firm continues growth with addition of new associate.

PORTLAND , Ore. – Bullard Smith Jernstedt Wilson is pleased to announce the addition of Emily Shults to the firm's team which focuses exclusively on advising and representing employers in labor and employment law matters. Emily is a former judicial clerk for The Honorable Richard Allen Griffin of the Sixth Circuit Court of Appeals and The Honorable Joseph H. McKinley, Jr. of the Western District of Kentucky.

Emily is a member of the Oregon State Bar Association, the Multnomah Bar Association, and the Oregon Women Lawyers Society. Emily earned her J.D. degree from the University of Cincinnati College of Law and is admitted to practice in Oregon, Michigan and Ohio, in state and federal courts.

The addition of Ms. Shults continues the Bullard service expansion within its exclusive focus of representing employers in labor and employment law matters which started in 2004 when Tom Kramer brought 22 years of professional experience as a tax and benefits attorney to the firm to start an Employee Benefits practice group.

Founded in 1977 in Portland, Oregon, Bullard Smith Jernstedt Wilson is one of the premier management labor and employment law firms in the Pacific Northwest . The firm has served more than 4,000 clients throughout the United States in both the private and public sectors. The firm is also Oregon's exclusive member of the Worklaw ® Network – a nationwide network of independent law firms focused exclusively on representing management in labor and employment law matters – including primary areas of concentration in Public and Private Sector Labor Contract Administration and Collective Bargaining, proceedings before the National Labor Relations Board and the Oregon Employment Relations Board, Employment Litigation, and Personnel Policies and Practices. For more information, visit www.bullardlaw.com.